

Movie, “Red All Over” is being shot in Houston’s 5th Ward

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

(Houston, TX – January 31, 2014) --- Houston native and rapper “Slim Thug,” (Stayve Jerome Thomas) is starring in a new film entitled, “Red All Over.” The movie is being shot in parts of Houston’s 5th Ward neighborhood for the next two weeks. Joining the local rapper is actor Victor Love, best known for “Native Son,” with Oprah Winfrey and actress, Donna Biscoe, who plays Elizabeth, on the hit TV show “Nashville.”

Today, Friday, January 31, 2014, the crew will be filming off Lyons Avenue near Pleasant Hill Baptist Church. Media will have access from noon to 2pm.

The movie focuses on the life of Red Wright, played by Aaron Harris, best known for the “Vampire Diaries.” Red is a 15 year old boy who is on his way to self-destruction. His hard-knock life is filled with problems due to his neglectful parents and a relentless school bully who won’t back down. Despite the comfort Red finds with his older brother KJ, played by “Slim Thug,” and his friend Rahjer, he still manages to make a destructive choice that will change his life and affect the community.

Written by Cess Black and John Wayne S. III, this film is dedicated to children who have suffered from gun violence. Wayne is also the director on the project and says he doesn’t have a solution, but believes we need to look at the cause of these crimes as well as the affect. “How are we going to fix a problem if we don’t know the root cause,” says Wayne. “This movie starts the conversation on looking at the whole picture and how we can help teenagers before they choose a destructive path.”

Londyn Town Pictures and Clarity Film Partners joined forces to produce this film. They are also in partnership with the non-profit organization, Fifth Ward Community Redevelopment Corporation and Pleasant Hill Baptist Church. The hope is that this film will continue to shine a light and bring solutions to the gun violence that plagues Houston and cities across the country.
